

FEAR TROUBLE

People's Party Want Protection at the Polls.

They Will Ask for the Appointment of United States Supervisors.

TRAUDS EXPECTED IN ARKANSAS, TENNESSEE, ALABAMA AND GEORGIA.

Meeting at the Richelieu To-Day of the National Executive Committee of the People's Party and the Chairman of the State Delegation—The State Chairman of the Arkansas Committee Looks for Bloodshed in That State.

The National Executive Committee of the People's party is holding an executive session at the Richelieu hotel to-day and will this evening hold a joint session with the various state chairmen. The meeting has been advertised for over a month and the attendance was not as large as H. E. Taubeneck, Chairman of the National Executive Committee, anticipated. The only members of the committee present are J. B. Davis of Texas, M. C. Kahan of Tennessee, G. F. Washburn of Massachusetts, Y. O. Strickler of Nebraska, Secretary J. H. Turner and Chairman H. E. Taubeneck. The committee went into executive session at 9 o'clock this morning and will not adjourn until 5 o'clock this afternoon as quite a number of these in attendance desire to return home on the night train. Post-Dispatch reporter was admitted this afternoon and was informed that nothing had been or would be accomplished other than what was fore- shadowed in the Sunday Post-Dispatch. said Mr. Davis of Texas: "The purpose of the committee is to map out a route for Gen. Weaver and Gen. Field and to determine upon some connected action for the remainder of the campaign. We have quite a number of orators that we have to place and that is the principal object of the meeting of the committee. The state chairmen did not turn out as well as was expected, the only members in attendance being M. V. Carroll of Missouri, A. Vardall of South Dakota, C. O. Taylor of North Carolina, L. K. Taylor of Tennessee, G. F. Washburn of Massachusetts, Y. O. Strickler of Nebraska, and J. B. Suttler of Arkansas."

While the state chairmen were in session the Chairman of the State Committees sat in the front parlor exchanged jokes and related war stories, all of them asserting that the Democrats believed it was wrong to do right and the Republicans thought it was right to do wrong. One of the best posted chairmen in attendance is J. B. Suttler of Arkansas. He said the committee was in session Mr. Suttler walked the floor and related the trials and tribulations of the Arkansas voters referring to the recent election in Arkansas Mr. Suttler said:

"CLAIM FIRST WERE COUNTED OUT. We have ascertained that we cannot get a free ballot and a fair count without federal supervision, and the Executive Committee now in session, has already called for United States marshals and federal supervisors to be sent to the polls in Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, and other states in the south will for protection. In Arkansas we were counted out of our twenty-five representatives in the Legislature, and we have had to call a halt. I have resided in that state for twenty-five years and I know our party polled at least 60,000 votes, while the returns, if we ever get any, will probably give us a total vote of 100,000. The representatives in the Legislature instead of twenty-five or thirty. At our meeting to-day we will agree upon some action that will guarantee us protection. I want to say open and above board that if the Arkansas fraud is attempted at the November election our people will take up arms and defend our principles. Blood has to be shed. We do not mind so much being in the minority, but when either the Republican or the Democratic party attempts to disfranchise us there is going to be bloodshed, and the object of this joint session is to determine upon some concerted action to guarantee a free ballot and a fair count for the People's Party."

The minutes of the Executive Committee or the proceedings of the joint session will not be given out for publication, as it is not desired by the leaders of the party to inform either of the two great parties of the plans they have decided upon to conduct a campaign during the next few weeks in the south. The business of the two meetings will be finished to-night, and the representative leaders of the Populists will leave for their respective homes.

Folling the State. The Democratic State Committee is about to enter on a most important piece of campaign work from which they expect to learn accurately how the Missouri election will go. This work is a thorough poll of the State by school districts, and canvasses to be made by men of ripe judgment and sound knowledge of the politics of their neighbors. "Each county in the state has seventy or eighty school districts, and each district secretary Sam Cook to-day, "and in each school district there are about fifty voters. Our classmen will ascertain the politics of each voter in his school district, Democrat, Republican or Populist, and fill out the blanks in the canvass. We will have the last from the 1st of October to the 10th. Within a few days we will have all the reports at headquarters, and we will then be able to tell just how things are going."

Secretary Cook says this work will not be expensive, although it seems that it must be. "In every school district," said he, "we will have a man who can almost sit down and tell the politics of all his neighbors. This is the nearest thing to a systematic organization of the State the Democrats have yet attempted. Mayor Noonan says they are complaining the lack of organization in the state, and a little after his criticism was published in the Post-Dispatch with the request that the state committee should be advised to do its work less loosely than it is doing. "Not only my office, but a sum of money not inconsiderable to me, which I have contributed, depends upon the work the State Committee," said their candidate, "and I think the campaign is being neglected. I have been in the headquarters often and I know that the state organization is imperfect and that they are relying on the usual majority vaguely."

Watters' Democratic Club. There was a large attendance at the Watters' Democratic Club meeting Saturday evening at the Business Men's Headquarters, Seventh and Olive. The following speaker addressed the gathering: Hon. S. W. Cobb, O'Neill Ryan, City Councilman A. Arnstein and Dr. R. M. King. This club is now thoroughly organized, with a membership of 125, and does not conflict with the Watters' Union. At the next meeting, Saturday evening, Sept. 17, there will be present a Deputy Recorder of Voters, who will register those who cannot get time during the day. All waiters are invited to attend and join this club. Questions of vital importance to them will be discussed by the speakers.

Indorsed John B. O'Meara. Maj. John B. O'Meara, the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, is not allowing his campaign to distract his attention from business. There are several large city granite contracts to be let within a short time, and he was at the City Hall to-day arranging to put in bids on the work. Maj. O'Meara's candidacy was indorsed by the Sewer Laborers' Union last night, and it has gratified him immensely. The little truth there was in the campaign story that organized labor was fighting me. The truth is that organized labor is with me.

Notes. The Tenth Ward Vest Club will hold its regular meeting Thursday next, 8 p. m. at Lafayette Hall, corner Seventeenth and Cass avenues. Prominent speakers will be in attendance. The public is invited. The Fourteenth Ward Democratic Club will meet Tuesday evening, Sept. 13, at 8 o'clock, at Schaeffer's Hall, northwest corner of Jefferson avenue and Gable street. President James F. Dockery will appoint a Committee on Registration and various other candidates at this meeting. A representation of the voters of the ward is expected to attend. A meeting of the Irish-American Republican Club of Missouri will be held this evening at Thias Hall, northeast corner of Kiewit and Franklin streets. The purpose of the meeting is to indorse and ratify the national and state tickets. Messrs. Matt G. Reynolds, John A. McNeil and E. F. Fox will deliver addresses.

At His Father's Request. William Riley, an incorrigible boy living on Gravois road near Jefferson avenue, was sent to the Work-house at the request of his father this morning. He was released from the House of Refuge only a short time ago on the promise of good behavior and this time his father concluded to give him a little experience in the Work-house. Riley, who is 17 years old, was arrested yesterday on a charge of idling, and not being able to pay a fine of $10, he was sent down the river this afternoon to work it out. Unless the fine is remitted he will spend the winter at the Work-house.

TWO NATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

Post-Office Clerks and Coopers in Session in St. Louis.

This morning the National Association of Post-Office Clerks opened its fourth annual convention in the rooms of the Circuit Court of Appeals. The association represents over three hundred post-office clerks, and since its foundation has been steadily increasing in numbers. Owing to the fact that a presidential election is approaching the attendance at the present convention is not so large as had been expected, but many of the most influential members are present, and more are expected this evening and to-morrow morning. The delegates assembled shortly after 11 o'clock and were called to order by President Osgood.

POSTMASTER MARLOW'S ADDRESS. Postmaster John B. Marlow then delivered the address of welcome. He stated that all Louis Post-office employees were most happy to see their fellow workmen in their midst and would do their best to make their stay in the city a pleasant one. The organization of post-office employees for their common interest and the good of the service was to be highly recommended, and promised good feeling, good corps and general efficiency. The National Association of Post-office Clerks had already accomplished much, and would in the future, no doubt, accomplish more.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS. A short address was then delivered by Hon. John J. O'Neill, welcoming the delegates to the city and giving the favor of more equitable and liberal rules in regard to the classification of postal clerks. President William V. Osgood then delivered the annual address. He opened by giving an account of the inception and growth of the order and the good that had already been accomplished. A bill had been passed in 1886 providing for a better classification and increased compensation for postal clerks. The bill had been passed in 1886 providing for a better classification and increased compensation for postal clerks. The bill had been passed in 1886 providing for a better classification and increased compensation for postal clerks.

PROGRAMME OF THE MEETING. The President then turned over the convention to Credentials, after which an adjournment was taken. This evening the delegates will visit the Exposition in a body. On Tuesday afternoon an excursion to Alton on the steamer Grand Republic will be tendered. On Wednesday they will be driven to the various points of interest in the city. The local committee consists of Benedict Leavy, President; H. C. McCaffrey, Vice-President; J. H. Baggett, Secretary. The national officers are: National President, Wm. V. Osgood of Chicago; National Secretary, C. R. Schuchman of St. Louis; National Treasurer, J. E. Lewis of Boston.

COOPERS' INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION. Delegates From All Parts of the Country Assemble and Revise Laws. Fifty delegates to the convention of the Coopers' International Convention met in St. Louis Hall on Broadway and Biddle street this morning. Most of the delegates arrived last evening and at 10 o'clock they proceeded to the hall where they registered. The convention will continue until Friday. This is the third annual meeting and it will have a larger attendance than the former two because more individual unions have entered the International Union. The delegates represent the former conventions and more unions have been organized throughout the country since the last year. The meetings of the union will be executive, and the affairs of the convention will be kept secret or of such character as the secretary chooses to give out will be made public. Nothing of special or vital interest to the coopers will come up for discussion, the secretary stated. There are no problems to solve, no question of wages to be discussed, and the greater part of the convention will be taken up in a revision of the laws of the union, taking in questions and settling the engines that are to serve for the ensuing year.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION. The afternoon session of the International Coopers' Union Convention was given up to hearing the reports of delegates on the condition of the coopers' union in the various districts they hailed from, and also the written communications of secretaries of unions which did not send delegates to report orally to the convention. The general report was of prosperity and increasing membership from all quarters, and was very encouraging. These reports occupied the entire afternoon session, to-morrow morning the convention will busy itself with a revision of the laws.

Run Down by a Train. Passenger engine No. 47 of the Iron Mountain Railway, with Engineer Frank Moyer in charge, struck and seriously injured Albert Meier, a German boy, near a mine on the Work-house quarry at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

A man was walking south between the tracks and when he saw the train approaching him, it is alleged that he stepped directly in front of the engine. Injuries consist of two broken ribs and a broken thigh. He was sent to Fourth and Chouteau avenue where an ambulance was called and sent to City Hospital.

Austrian Food Cases Dismissed. The cases of fraud against Max Kurts and Jacob Fischer were nolle prossed in the Criminal Court this morning, the prosecuting witnesses failing to appear. The defendants sold Austrian foods and were charged with defrauding Mrs. Mary Bachman of 216 Adams street out of $7.50. And Kurts alone was charged with defrauding Valentine Miller out of two bonds worth $10.

ORPHANS' WEEK.

Parentless Children Being Entertained by the Exposition Management.

This is orphans' week at the Exposition and the little ones will be given more opportunity to see the big show than ever before. Manager Gallente has written to all the institutions in the city inviting the ladies to call and spend a day at the Ex. and bring their lunch along. Owing to the inclement weather to-day the children did not get out in very large numbers, and then they only came in the afternoon. As they must leave the building not later than 5 o'clock, the time spent is very short, or at least the children think so when everything is new to their eyes. The children are to be open to the orphans free on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and all who come will be given a ball of popcorn. Prof. Gilmore will play some familiar nursery air, which will no doubt please the children.

Several new exhibits are being put in the basement, and the machinery department, which was in a somewhat mixed state when the Ex. opened, is now about completed. To-day the tank at the bottom of the stairs was filled and a number of large and small fish put in. The trout for the small tank have not yet arrived but will be here in a few days.

The following is the programme for this evening: MONDAY EVENING, 7 to 8. Weber (first time in St. Louis). Hoffman (first time in St. Louis). Moore (first time in St. Louis). Lanning (first time in St. Louis). Rosalind (first time in St. Louis). Blosser (first time in St. Louis). Chapin (first time in St. Louis). Roby (first time in St. Louis). NOTES. The Wrought Iron Range Co.'s display is an exhibit of cooking stoves and culinary utensils, but it is one of the handsomest displays in the building. Their show of hotel kitchen outfits and their range of double and triple burners is especially attractive.

Bonsberg-Kremp. This morning at St. Xavier's Church on Grand and Lindell avenues Mr. Felix P. Kremp of Reading, Pa., and Miss Dora Bonsberg of St. Louis were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, the nuptial mass being held by Father Brongniest at 7 a. m. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and a profusion of potted plants and the altar presented a picturesque appearance with its dozens of lighted tapers and its garlands of flowers.

The wedding march played forth precisely at 7 o'clock. The bridesmaids, Misses Dora Halldeman and James Byrne, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Rosalie Fusz, and lastly Miss F. A. Bonsberg leaning upon the arm of Mr. Kremp, proceeded up the aisle. The bride looked dignified and elegant in a robe of white silk bengaline, with a solitary diamond at her throat, the only piece of jewelry worn. The usual suite and beautiful white prayer book, with long flowing streamers of satin ribbon, completed this splendid and rich toilet. All during the mass Mr. Shields and Miss Cornet rendered delightful vocal selections. After the ceremony the happy couple repaired to the residence of Dr. Lauer, 3437 Chestnut street, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served to the family of the bride and her most intimate friends. There were present Dr. and Mrs. Louis Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bonsberg, Mr. and Mrs. Will Bensberg, Mr. Frank Bensberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sheppard, Mr. Otto H. Bauer, Miss Rosalie Fusz, Miss Kniff, Miss Albin, Miss Alfred Weidner, Mr. and Mrs. Kremp leaving this evening for Chicago on an extended honeymoon trip prior to settling in their new home at Reading, Pa. where awaits the bride a handsome Queen Anne residence built and furnished for her by the groom. Many handsome presents were sent them, both by their many friends East and in St. Louis, but were not detailed. A large party of relatives and friends will see them off this evening and wish them "bon voyage."

HEINRICH BOERNSTEIN'S DEATH. Heinrich Boernstein, who was editor of the Anzeiger des Westens in the '70's and during the early years of the war, died at Vienna on Saturday. He was not a "48-er," but came to America from Paris in 1849 when it was apparent the revolution of 1848 would result in the establishment of a Non-partisan despotism. In 1853 he gave the Anzeiger a free-soil bias and declared for the Republican party. In the early part of 1861 more vigorous steps to keep Missouri in line with the Union. President Lincoln appointed him Consul to Bremen, and after a brief visit to this country in 1861, to advocate Lincoln's election, he settled permanently at Vienna.

A PECULIAR STORM.

The Rain Probably Occasioned by a Tropical Hurricane—Colder To-morrow.

The rain that fell yesterday and to-day was a surprise to the Weather Bureau officials, and the storm was in many respects a peculiar one. It was, in this part of the country, very narrow. It rained at Cape Girardeau, was fair in Kansas city. At Hannibal the fall was heavy, but there was no precipitation at Keokuk. At Chester there was a storm, but the weather at Cape Girardeau was fair. From accounts received to-day it is shown that the rain area extended in a parallel belt from the Gulf of Mexico to Lake Michigan, narrowing as it went North. It is considered likely that it was caused by a tropical storm near enough to the Gulf of Mexico to influence the weather far North as the Indian Territory, and that to-morrow will be clear. In Nebraska frost appeared, and the temperature is likely to fall to-morrow to 10 and possibly lower.

BROWN HELD RESPONSIBLE.

Slayer Developed at the Inquest. The inquest on Charles Wilson, who was shot at Henry Bridgewater's saloon about 5 o'clock yesterday morning by Wm. Alexander Brown, was held this forenoon at the Coroner's office.

George Hallis, a colored waiter at the Silver Moon restaurant, testified that as he entered Bridgewater's saloon yesterday morning he heard Bridgewater tell Wilson that he didn't want Brown, the prisoner, in the saloon because he was disorderly. Wilson then told him to go out, and the prisoner said, "Let me put my money in my pocket," and he put his hand in his pocket and pulled out a revolver and shot Wilson.

Brown was held responsible for the death of Wilson, and was returned to the lock-up after the inquest. He will probably be transferred to jail to-morrow on a charge of murder in the first degree.

The Noonan Mandamus Case. Judge Dillon issued an alternative writ to-day, in Chambers, in the mandamus proceedings begun against Mayor Noonan by Attorney E. B. Hannigan, for the purpose of compelling the Mayor to cancel certain permits issued to various parties for digging down to soil beneath the sidewalks without licenses. The Mayor is cited to show cause on Oct. 5 why the writ should not issue.

Court Notes. A suit was filed in the Circuit Court to-day by the will of the late Samuel Borer, the hardware man and politician, who died in November, 1890, leaving an estate valued at over $90,000, which was willed to his third wife, with the exception of a few small legacies.

Women say—"I hate to ask my doctor." Quite natural; their nature is sensitive and modest. They cannot talk to a man about their peculiar ailments.

But—there is no excuse for a woman who rejects the assistance of a woman.

MILLIONS IN SIGHT.

Hearship to an Irish Estate Claimed by an American.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 12.—There seems to be a strong probability that a well-known citizen of this city, Henry C. Hope, at present superintendent of the Omaha telegraph system, will at no distant date establish his claim as heir to one of the largest estates in the north of Ireland. For some time Mr. Hope has been aware that his family had pretensions in that direction, but until recently he had not seriously tried to push the matter. A few weeks ago an advertisement appeared in a New York paper stating that the descendents of Russell Hope, who died in Ireland, but whose son emigrated to America, could hear of something very much to their advantage if they would put in a claim and furnish sufficient evidence of identification. Almost simultaneously with this advertisement an article appeared in the same paper setting forth that there were both a title and an estate worth several millions involved in the claim. The title, that of Lady Stanhope, descended through the Hope family, while the estate went to the Hope. The claimant to the title had been found in the person of Mrs. John E. Davis of Chicago and this lady has been very active in substantiating her claim. The attention of Mr. Hope was called to this article by a friend, who consulted him, he concluded that he was the particular Hope wanted. So far as can be learned the records are not at present complete, but the matter has been placed in the hands of Senator Davis, who will establish the claim of descendants. Mr. Hope, Sr., came over from Ireland at a very early age. His grandfather, during his life was the owner of the estate now in controversy. They descended in the ordinary course of entail, without issue and of there being no intermediate inheritors.

SECRET AGENTS.
Canadian Representatives Visit Quarantine Island at New York.
New York, Sept. 12.—One of the most important and interesting features of the present quarantine against cholera, at this Port developed late this afternoon. Two secret representatives of the Canadian Government have been in this city and have visited quarantine stations daily for the purpose of keeping the Health officers of that Government fully informed as to what was being done by the authorities here to prevent the cholera from entering this city. Upon the reports of these secret agents it is said depends the question whether the Canadian Government will establish a complete and rigid quarantine by water and rail against New York. The fact has leaked out that Mayor Grant's nocturnal trip to Lower Quarantine on Tuesday to test the efficiency of the police patrol established around the pest infected steamships very nearly resulted in serious consequences to the city's chief magistrate. He boarded a tug on Tuesday night and steamed down into the Lower Bay and ordered the Captain of the tug to make directly but as quietly as possible for the steamship Normanna. The Mayor's tug had scarcely passed within the prohibited distance, when the police boat Golden Rod ran alongside and the sergeant in charge halted the pilot of the Mayor's tug and ordered him to stop until it was ascertained that those on board had the right to communicate with the infected steamships.

Pleasure Party Frightened.
A furniture car loaded with boys and girls was run into by a motor car of the South St. Louis Electric line on Broadway at Charleston street about 6:30 o'clock last night, but luckily nobody was hurt, although the wagon was pretty badly smashed up and the motor car considerably damaged. The young folks in the wagon were greatly frightened and some of the girls screamed loud enough to be heard several blocks away. It was a very narrow escape for all of them. The rig belonged to John Gross of 301 McKim avenue, and was being driven by Joseph Gross. They were returning from a picnic.

Shot Over Craps.
Price McGinnis was shot and probably fatally wounded by Jinks Hudson, at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning, during a fight over a craps game at Tenth and Gratiot streets. Both are colored. McGinnis accused Hudson of using "queer dice," and a fight resulted. McGinnis was arrested by the police for disturbing the peace, but was released on bond and went in search of Hudson. He found Hudson at Tenth and Gratiot streets, but the latter walked away. McGinnis followed him and threatened to kill him, and Hudson after walking half a block turned toward him. The latter assaulted him, and Hudson drawing a revolver shot McGinnis twice. One bullet lodged in the breast and may prove fatal. McGinnis was taken to the city hospital and Hudson was arrested at a late hour.

Permit for St. Xavier's Church.

Building Commissioner Reid today granted a permit to the St. Louis University for the completion of the Church of St. Francis Xavier, on the northwest corner of Grand and Lindell avenues, the basement of which is already finished and occupied. The cost of the proposed building is $100,000. The basement was completed at a cost of $50,000. It is not proposed to erect a steeple at this time, and the cost of it is not included in the present estimate. Mr. Thomas Walsh, now dead, designed the plan of the building. He is succeeded as architect by Mr. H. M. Switzer, who will supervise the construction and carry out the plan as designed by Mr. Walsh. Kerr & Allen, builders, of this city are contractors for all the work. The building is 92 feet on Grand avenue and 225 feet on Lindell avenue. The spire which completed will be 112 feet above the grade of the street, not including the spire. The basement has been used for church services the last six years, and will continue to be while remainder of the building is being erected, which is to take two years.

Suits are made to order at popular prices for first-class work in our custom department. We are now ready to show you our selection of Fine Fall Woolens. We consider this display to be the best ever shown in St. Louis.

When the Trap Is Sprung.

Upon us, as it sometimes is, in a most unexpected manner by disease, we appreciate the fact that it is a most insidious foe, and that not only is it necessary to combat it by the most potent medicinal agencies, but to prevent its manifestation at all by counteracting the causes that produce it. Thus exposure in wet weather, the enforced wearing of damp clothes during a storm, a thorough draught, unaccustomed exertion, heat and water, bodily or mental overwork, are breeders of disease. But Monterey's Stomach Bitters will prevent their inducing it. This medicine fortifies the system against the secured effects such causes would otherwise produce. To the mariner, miner, the outdoor laborer, the slave of the desk and the student of the law, it is of the utmost advantage. Dyspepsia, kidney trouble, malaria, biliousness, all yield to it.

What a St. Louis Man Saw at New Orleans.

A Bald-Head's Mishap—The "St. Joe Kid" and His Full-Dress Suit—Jim Daily Jailed—Opening of the New Madison Track—Base Ball Gossip—General Sporting News.

The man who has seen the big lights is an interesting personage these days, who finds it harder to talk business than to give reminiscences of the great carnival of fests. A Post-Dispatch reporter cornered a prominent business man this morning, who, though not adverse to telling what he saw in New Orleans, was decidedly against having his name published in connection with it. "There are a hundred men perhaps in that pit over there," he said, leaning against the rostrum on "Change," where were 700 times more in the arena the night of the big fight and the tumult was proportionately greater. Such an assemblage I never before witnessed. Faces, faces, faces everywhere row upon row from the bright ring-side up into the shadowy shadows of the eaves and under the eaves. Every class was represented from McAllister's 400 to the offshoots of humanity. All sorts and conditions of sports were there, from the cool, pale-faced gambler to the loud-mouthed flash with the headlight in his shirt front.

Honest John Kelly, who had $21,000 at stake on the outcome, came in with a hiliarty party and sat in a private box. The flashing of a glass door knob in an expansive shirt front, dimming the glare of the electric lights, told where Steve Brodie held down a reserved seat. Over one of the boxes, Exaltation, a friend and a friend lazily waving big palm-leaf fans. Foxy adjusted his monocle, for one moment, but derisive howls and flying cigar butts made him change his determination to view the night through it.

But Masterson, sunbrowned and moody, stood near the ring. But was ruminating on the outcome of his bet on Corbett, nobody disturbs him where he stands, for the six-shooter gleam in his eyes has a very "keep off the grass" look.

Here and there in the dense throng there flashed an upturned beer bottle or a sandwich in the hands of a hungry spectator. Down under the rail of the gallery in sec. A sat a bald-headed man in a tattered coat, a friend and a friend lazily waving big palm-leaf fans. Foxy adjusted his monocle, for one moment, but derisive howls and flying cigar butts made him change his determination to view the night through it.

without falling back on the clever young man who licked him.
"If my less had been good," John continued, "I would have made a better showing. They have never been right since I had that fever, a year before my fight in Richmond, and I seemed as though they were glued to the floor Wednesday night. Still I have no reason to complain. I was beaten fairly by the cleverest fighter who ever stepped in a ring and an American at that. I hope to take my revenge by me and lead a different life from the one I have been leading. If he keeps up the same pace that I did that follow-up fight will be on top of the heap in short order."

Sullivan hopes that his show at Madison Square Garden next Saturday night will be successful, for he is not on the shady side of easy street financially. His theatrical season will open at Providence Sept. 15.

CORBETT AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12.—Corbett and his party arrived here at 7:40 this morning, forty minutes behind schedule time, over the Richmond & Danville Railroad. It was the intention of the party to leave at 10 o'clock for New York, but owing to the delay in their train being behind time they missed connection, and were obliged to wait for the 9 o'clock express for New York.

LONDON, A FATAL PRIZEFIGHT.

Northampton, between a soldier named Clayton, and a bootmaker named Langley, the latter was so horribly battered that he died of his injuries. Clayton also received serious injuries, but succeeded in escaping. Six abductors were arrested.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

President Lord of the Olympic Club says emphatically that there is no money in boxing in the Olympic Club arena. The feeling against Dixon settled the matter very effectively.
Among the many messages of congratulation Mrs. Corbett received after her husband's victory was the following from George Richards and Eugene Canfield, who were here last week with Hoyt's "Temperance Town":
Brooklyn sports are bent in getting a man to beat Dixon, and they now have their eyes turned toward Eddie Pierce. They figure it that Pierce is more of a fighter than a sparrer and would go in and "smash" the colored boy from the start. On that ground Sullivan should have whipped Corbett.

Mitchell says that he will take no notice of Goddard's challenge, but will match Frank Slavin against $5,000 side bet.

Considerable has been said about Corbett's height and weight, indicating that he was not well proportioned for a prize fighter. At New Orleans he weighed 165 pounds and stands 5 feet 11 inches in height. Tom Hyer stood 6 feet 2 1/2 inches and weighed 182 pounds. Dick Sullivan was 5 feet 2 inches and weighed 130 pounds.
